Donor Information Sessions REGISTRATION BEGINS SEPTEMBER 1

---

In partnership with the Adams County Community Foundation Giving Spree, the Adams County Library is pleased to present ten Donor Information Sessions in October. These sessions offer the community an opportunity to learn about and connect with the participating nonprofits in the 2024 Adams County Community Foundation's Giving Spree.

We are pleased to share the schedule for our upcoming Donor Information Sessions. Each session features a specific topic and a list of participating organizations scheduled to appear. We encourage you to attend multiple sessions to discover and learn about organizations that may be new to you and of interest.

Learn how these nonprofits help create a vibrant community in Adams County. You can also join each session LIVE through Community Media of South Central PA livestream.

Staying Healthy in the Fall

WEDNESDAY, SEPT 18

6:00PM

Fall is nature's season of harvesting the bounty that grows during the summer so that you can store up for the winter season ahead. Some of the gifts of fall include letting go and pruning; crisp, dry air that allows us to breathe deeply; and acknowledging nature's beauty.

By letting go of the "old" in the fall, we have room for new growth that comes in the spring. In Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM), the Lung and the Large Intestine are associated with the season of fall. These two organs work together to perform many important energetic functions vital to your health. If the energy of the Lung and Large Intestine are not balanced, you may experience hay fever, asthma, dry cough; frequent colds; rough, itchy, or dry skin; and constipation or diarrhea. If you are interested in learning how your body works from a TCM perspective; if you are interested in learning safe and natural ways to follow and use the energy of Fall to stay healthy, then this class is for you. Renee Lehman, MS, PT, MAC, Licensed Acupuncturist and Physical Therapist, will present practical self-care practices (including Lifestyle recommendations, Qigong movements, and Eating for Healing) to help you support your body's energy (Qi).

Registration Required.

Behind the Veil: Tour of Gettysburg Library

THURSDAY, SEPT 19

6:00PM

Have you ever wondered how many people it takes to get your library book to the shelf? Or what is behind the closed doors on the third floor? Or who works in the post office safe still hidden in the building? Join us as we pull back the veil and show you parts of the library that you've never seen before. Don't miss your chance to see the Gettysburg Library through the eyes of a librarian! The guided tour will start on the third floor.

The Women of the Third Reich

THURSDAY, SEPT 19

6:30PM (VIA ZOOM)

In 1929, Joseph Goebbels declared that the mission of German women was to be beautiful and bear children, a belief integral to the Third Reich's vision. Historian Anette Isaacs explores this expectation's reality by examining the lives of influential women like Magda Goebbels, Emmi Goering, Leni Riefenstahl, and Eva Braun within the racially motivated totalitarian system of Nazi Germany.

Registration Required.

A Zoom link will be sent to registered parties at 3PM on the day of the program.

Shades of Emancipation: The 1860-61 Slave Census Maps

TUESDAY, OCT 15

6:00PM

In the summer of 1861, the United States Coast Survey released two significant maps based on data from the previous year's national census. One map focused on Virginia, and the other covered all slaveholding states in the South, showing the percentage of enslaved people in each county using various shades of black and gray. These maps, created by the Coast Survey, were utilized by the U.S. Army to aid sick and wounded soldiers. Additionally, they played a crucial role in shaping emancipation policies by influencing Union leaders, including President Lincoln. Codie Eash, Director of Education and Museum Operations at the Seminary Ridge Museum and Education Center, is a knowledgeable historian and lecturer with a background in communication and history. He is actively involved in Civil War education and scholarship.

Netflix Documentary: They'll Love Me When I'm Dead

FRIDAY, OCT 25

1:00PM

Oscar-winning director Morgan Neville's film *They'll Love Me When I'm Dead* explores the final 15 years of legendary filmmaker Orson Welles' life. Once celebrated for *Citizen Kane*, Welles in 1970 was seeking a comeback with a film called *The Other Side of the Wind*. Despite financial struggles and chaotic production, Welles pursued the project with a dedicated team, capturing the story of an aging director working on his last great movie. Welles' death in 1985 left *The Other Side of the Wind* unfinished, and the film's negative remained in a vault for decades. Featuring insights from Welles' collaborators like Peter Bogdanovich and Frank Marshall, Neville's documentary reveals the untold final chapter of Welles' remarkable and rebellious career.

Registration Requested.

Boris Karloff Double Feature

THURSDAY, OCT 31

1:00PM

A scientist uses corpses to create a monster, who later incurs the wrath of the local villagers when he impulsively kills a little girl. Subsequently seeking out his creator, the creature flees with him to a nearby windmill. Followed by the masterful sequel to the 1931 classic, the mad scientist is persuaded by a creepy doctor to create a mate for his creature to help fabricate a new race, but all doesn't go as planned. Elsa Lanchester has dual roles as novelist Mary Shelley and the frightful fright-wig-wearing bride.
